Procedure

- › Tell your students they are going to play a game of dominoes to revise some multi-word verbs. In the game, they will try to match appropriate beginnings and endings to complete the multi-word verbs. The student who plays all of their dominoes is the winner.
- › Put your students into groups of three, put each group around one desk, and give each group a set of dominoes after mixing it up. Students share out the dominoes.
- › The first student places a domino on the desk. The next student tries to complete a multi-word verb with one of their dominoes, placing it either before or after the first domino. If they are unable to make a multi-word verb, the turn passes on to the next student.
- › While your students play the game, circulate and provide support, and try to ensure that no incorrect multi-word verbs have been played. In the case of a dispute, you should mediate. Keep in mind that a student may form a correct multi-word verb that is not one of the verbs on the worksheet.
- › When a student has played all of their dominoes, they have won. However, the other two players should continue playing to determine who is the runner-up.

Extension activity

Ask the groups to write sentences using the multi-word verbs they have formed. The sentences should be worded in such a way as to demonstrate that the group understands the verb's meaning.
