Hi, Mom.

I need help! You know I'm in a cooking club at university—well, we have to cook a meal for some teachers on Wednesday. Unfortunately, I have a cold. I have a sore throat and a cough, too. I feel bad, but I think I can cook. I need your advice, Mom. I want to help cook the meal, but I can't, right? –Ismail

I'm sorry you feel sick, Ismail. Well, of course you can cook. But the question is, "Should you cook?" I don't think you should. You shouldn't be near other people's food when you have a cold. Get some rest and eat some hot chicken soup. I know you'll feel sad about not cooking, but you can cook another meal for the teachers in the future. Feel better soon!

Hi, George! I need help, big brother. I have a new friend, Harry. I'm excited to have a new friend. We're going to the art museum tomorrow afternoon—he loves art and he thinks that I do, too. But you know me: I don't know anything about art! What should I do? Harry's so excited about going to the museum and I don't want to make him sad. And I don't want him to know about my lie! This is terrible, big brother. I need your advice! –

Hey Stephanie,
 Well, little sister, do you think you can take an art course in less than a day? I don't! You know what you should do. You should call him and tell him you don't know anything about art. What other choice do you have? You can lie to him and say you need to visit your sick grandmother, of course. Then you can visit the art museum before you see him again. But no, little sister—just tell Harry the truth. I'll bet he'll still be happy to be your friend! –George

45. Ismail's mom thinks he (can / shouldn't / should) cook the meal on Wednesday.
46. Stephanie is (excited / sad / scared) to have a new friend.
47. Stephanie's brother thinks Stephanie (can / can't / should) take an art course very quickly.

Can twins be completely different?

When we think of twins, we usually think of identical twins—brothers or sisters who look alike. Even fraternal twins—twins who develop from two different eggs—sometimes look similar and have similar personalities. But can twins look completely different and have very different personalities? Let's take a look at two sets of twins.

Suzie and Laura are fraternal twins. But if you meet them, you might not think so. Suzie is short with long, curly, black hair. Her eyes are brown. But her sister, Laura, has short blonde hair and green eyes. She's also very tall. They look completely different. They don't dress alike. Suzie likes dresses with many different colors. However, Laura likes to wear pants and T-shirts. She always wears black clothes. So, what about their personalities? Here, they are more similar. They're both friendly and outgoing and have the same tastes in music (both love rap). They both like outdoor activities, such as hiking and surfing. They do a lot of things together.

Shaun and Ben are also fraternal twins and they look completely different, too. People have no problem telling them apart. Shaun is tall with long, brown hair and blue eyes. He has a mustache and wears glasses. Ben, however, isn't very tall. He's much shorter than his brother. He has medium-length, curly, blonde hair and green eyes. He doesn't wear glasses and doesn't have a mustache. Their tastes are very different, too. They like different kinds of clothes, food, and music. Shaun is very shy and tends to be quiet around other people. But Ben loves talking to people in social situations. He's very friendly and outgoing. Shaun likes to stay at home and play games online.

48. Fraternal twins (always / sometimes / never) have similar taste in clothing.
49. Suzie and Laura have similar (taste in clothes / personalities / eyes).
50. Shaun and Ben have (the same / similar / different) personalities.
