

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

AssessmentsUnit 10 Review Test 2*Section 1: Listening Part A

||| Listen to the discussion about culture shock. Then choose the correct answer to each question, according to the information.

1. How did Kathy feel when she returned from the UK?
 - a. She didn't feel like she fit into her old life.
 - b. She resumed her old life as if nothing changed.
 - c. She fit into her old life but drank more tea.
2. What happened to Jeff's hometown, workplace, and friends while he was in Korea?
 - a. Everything stayed exactly the same.
 - b. Everything changed so significantly that he felt disoriented.
 - c. A few things changed but most things stayed the same.
3. What advice does Kathy give to help people make a smooth transition home?
 - a. Keep in touch with friends from Miami with chats and video calls.
 - b. Keep busy with new experiences and stop thinking about life in Miami.
 - c. Avoid cultural habits from Miami that don't fit in with life in your hometown.

Section 1: Listening Part B

||| Listen to the discussion again. Listen for the underlined words or phrases. Then choose the correct phrase to complete each definition.

4. If you have settled into something, you _____.
 - a. begin to feel comfortable with it
 - b. find it strange and uncomfortable
 - c. accept it but still don't like it
5. When you articulate something, you _____.
 - a. stay silent about it
 - b. explain it clearly
 - c. are confused by it

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

Section 2: Vocabulary Part A

Choose the correct language from the box to complete each statement. There are three extra choices.

carry out come up with come down with lay off put up with run out of wipe out

6. Stephanie was worried her company would _____ several good employees.
7. I won't _____ rudeness in the workplace anymore. If someone is rude, I say something.
8. Luis has _____ a bad cold. He's staying in bed today.
9. Clarence has _____ patience with his difficult coworkers. I think he's ready to complain to their managers.

Section 2: Vocabulary Part B

Choose the correct word or phrase from the box to complete each statement. There are two extra choices.

belong culture shock homesick long for miss overwhelming
--

10. Jason found the process of moving to a new country _____. There were too many tasks to complete and not enough time.
11. I don't feel like I _____ at this company. I just don't feel comfortable here and I don't think my colleagues share my values.
12. I _____ my friends and family whenever I'm away from home.
13. Clark experienced _____ when he moved to Thailand. It took a few months for him to get used to the different lifestyle and customs.

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

Section 3: Grammar Part A

Read the sentences and decide if the phrasal verbs are separable or inseparable. If the phrasal verb is separable, rewrite the sentence another way. If the phrasal verb is inseparable, write X on the line.

Examples: You should check out the return policy before you buy a new computer.

You should check the return policy out before you buy a new computer.

Larry puts up with my temper, but Janice isn't very patient with me.

X

14. Mark came down with a cold before the trip, so he was miserable on our flight to Rio.

15. Please make sure you turn off the computers if you're the last person to leave the lab.

16. You shouldn't have to go without a heavy coat in the winter.

17. Should we carry out the plans even though we think they'll fail?

Section 3: Grammar Part B

Complete the sentences, using a form of the phrasal verb in parentheses with the pronoun it or them. Pay attention to whether the verb is separable.

18. Learning to play guitar is really difficult. My brother is thinking about _____ (give up)

19. My grandparents are getting old and need a lot of help. My parents are struggling to _____ (care for)

20. Tim and Cara love to shop. I always _____ at the mall. (run into)

21. This dress is a bit expensive, but I've decided to _____. (try on)

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

Section 4: Speaking Part AChoose the correct phrases from the box to complete the conversation.

To say nothing about	not really	You name it	there's the ripple effect
----------------------	------------	-------------	---------------------------

A: Can you believe what's happening in the world these days?B: I know. It's a real humanitarian crisis. Disease. Big social change.22. _____.A: What's causing it? I mean, is it the pandemic?B: Yes. The government shut a lot of things down when people started getting sick.A: And then 23. _____. When things are closed, fewer goods are being shipped overseas.B: 24. _____ the thousands of people who caught the virus.A: Makes you feel hopeless, doesn't it?B: Actually, 25. _____. There are places where you can make a donation.A: That's true. At least we'd be doing something.Section 4: Speaking Part B*Choose the phrase that best completes the conversation.*26. A: I'm worried about all the bad news I'm reading about in the news. Destruction. displaced people. _____.B: I know, me too. There are so many problems right now.a. You know itb. You name itc. You're right.27. A: So many people have lost their homes this year because of hurricanes and wildfires.B: _____ all the pets that are living on the street without food or water.a. You name itb. To say nothing aboutc. At least there's

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

28. A: Did you watch the news last night?B: About the drought in the Southwest? _____.A: Who would have guessed that lakes could get that low?

- a. Unbelievable
- b. You name it
- c. To say nothing about

29. A: What's causing so much street crime?B: Well, _____ there are two major factors right now: high unemployment and drug abuse.

- a. it makes you feel
- b. you name it
- c. they say

Section 5: Reading Part A

Read the interview. Choose all the correct answers to each question, according to the information.

Global Outlook

Interview with Felipe Estrada, CEO of Big Ideas

GO: There's this fear that globalization is causing culture to become homogenized. The Internet has exploded the influence of English as the common language around the world. Everyone almost everywhere can eat lunch at McDonald's or drive a Toyota—so the argument is that we're heading toward a world with a single monoculture. What are your thoughts on this?

Felipe: I'd say that concerns about monoculture are wrong, or at best greatly exaggerated. For example, look at the question of English as a world language. While it's true that the Internet has promoted widespread use of English, it's equally true that movements to save less-spoken languages have multiplied. Indigenous languages that were once on the road to disappearing are now transcribed, preserved, and studied. Fifty years ago, most encyclopedias were written in English. Now, there are online encyclopedias in just about every regional language.

GO: OK, I take your point for language, but what about cultural products? For example, people all over the world watch Marvel movies and listen to BTS. Isn't that evidence of monoculture?

Felipe: Not at all. Globalization is increasing our ability to share our cultures and appreciate others, but that isn't the same as developing a monoculture. First of all, the popularity of foreign cultural products is overstated. Studies show that despite the popularity of Hollywood movies and Korean pop music, as a rule, people prefer cultural products from their own countries. Secondly, specific cultural products are distinct from culture as a whole. For example, an appreciation for rap doesn't lead to a general Americanization. And the growing love for Korean music and dramas around the world doesn't mean countries are adopting other aspects of Korean culture.

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

GO: But couldn't you see monoculture as a kind of shared global identity that involves a mix of cultures? For example, if I eat Mexican food and watch Japanese movies and have Nigerian art on my walls, and everyone else is doing the same?

Felipe: That could just as easily be viewed as cultural fragmentation rather than monoculture. If my social circle revolves around other lovers of Nigerian art and my daughter spends her time online with BTS fans from the Philippines and Brazil, doesn't that represent a kind of cultural distance from each other? Our community groups may be less geographically based, and may overlap in new and complex ways, but that doesn't add up to anything you could reasonably call monoculture. Tribalism is human nature. We have always carved out social groups with a limited number of people and will continue to do so.

30. What evidence does Felipe provide that shows the world is not moving toward a single world language?
- The Internet has made it easier to preserve less-spoken languages.
 - There are now online encyclopedias in just about every language.
 - The Internet has promoted widespread use of the English language.
31. Why does Felipe disagree that the popularity of foreign cultural products shows the world is becoming monocultural?
- People generally prefer their own local cultural products to foreign ones.
 - Globalization is increasing our ability to share our cultures and appreciate others.
 - People who enjoy one foreign cultural product don't adopt that culture as a whole.

Section 5: Reading Part B

Read the interview in Part A again. Notice the underlined words. Choose the correct phrase to complete each definition.

32. If something is overstated, it is _____.
- made to seem larger, better, or worse than it really is
 - much more popular than other choices
 - increasing at a very fast pace
33. People who demonstrate tribalism _____.
- have strong feelings of loyalty to their own group
 - see themselves as independent from any group
 - seek connections to groups outside of their own